For good times... WE HAD IT ALL

Good times at Woodrow involved not only big events once or twice a month, but also innumerable little events which helped to make each day bearable.

Classrooms provided ample opportunities for good times. Students had the chance to laugh with and at each other, to feel good about assignments accomplished or friends made. Likewise, teachers could find good times in lessons well taught or tests which the whole class passed. Good grades pleased students and parents alike and allowed more fun as a reward.

Out of school fun added to the good times. Athletic competitions enabled students, parents, and teachers to enjoy friendly competition. After school, students could be heard planning to get together to work on school projects or have fun. Club functions and other school oriented activities provided learning and good times.

Cultural Fair

Brings Students Together

Held on May 8, the Culture Fair was a chance for students to learn about the many ethnic backgrounds found at Woodrow. Organized by Susan Travis' junior English class, the fair included food samples in the cafeteria and an assembly during seventh period.

Volunteers from the faculty, staff and student body prepared ethnic foods which were sold during the lunch periods for 50¢ per sample. The assembly included native dances and speakers.

Preparing for A New Way of Life

Senior.

The word conjures up images of a fun-filled, exciting year devoted to partying and leaving high school. Leaving school, however, isn't always an easy task.

After getting over the hump of meeting requirements and gathering credits, seniors had to decide what to do with themselves when appearing at Woodrow by 8:30 A.M. was no longer necessary. For some, life after high school meant appearing at a job each morning. "I'll be working part time while I'm attending a community college," said Claire Troy.

Other students found themselves planning to continue their educations. This meant choosing between a number of colleges, including two year community colleges and four year universities. It also meant filling out a heap of forms and applications, and praying for good SAT scores. "It was such a relief to get my acceptance letters back," said Jennifer Meyer.

Still other seniors decided to take time off and travel after graduation, or perhaps extend the decision making time by a few months. The military extended its traditional call, and a few students answered and prepared to go off to boot camp.

Going That Extra Mile

Pushing that accelerator and trying to get to school on time in the morning was not an easy task for those students who participated in extracurricular activities. Many students in sports had to get to school as early as 7:00 in the morning, while others stayed until 5:00 or 6:00 after school.

"Being in an extracurricular activity took a lot of time and a lot of hard work," said one freshman.

Many activities that helped push students to go that extra mile included sports, band, R.O.T.C., cheerleading, drill team, choir, Variations, annual staff and newspaper staff.

Teresita Delao, Senior, said, "I enjoyed writing for the newspaper staff because I would like to write when I finish school."

Varsity cheerleader Jennifer Meyer said she always wanted to be a varsity cheerleader and enjoyed spreading spirit during a football game.

"I enjoyed working on layouts and had always wanted to be a part of the annual staff," said Junior Kelli Culpepper.

Sophomore Trevor Kreie said, "I played tennis to keep me busy after school and on the weekends."

"I played football to help keep me in shape for track," said Junior Bobby Jefferson.

Even though a lot of time was taken out of a student's day for the activity they pursued, grades were a must to keep up.

One sophomore said he enjoyed playing basketball, but his grades came first.

It's a Jungle Out There

For many students, high school life revolved around more than classrooms and social activities. Some found themselves dividing their time between school and work.

The motivation to work was as varied as the workers themselves. Earning money for college, entertainment, clothing, cars, and family expenses all gave students a reason to look forward to picking up paychecks.

Restaurants and retail stores proved to be the most popular avenues to earn an income, but some students found other kinds of work equally rewarding. Junior Craig Hulcy had his own lawn maintenance service which gave him the means to buy a car.

"It's a lot of hard work, and you have to be willing to take responsibility," he said.

Senior Sokrum Huy worked in the personnel offices of Lakewood Bank. Like many students, she was in the work program and left school early to go to her job.

"I took the job so I would have experience for later," she said.

Some students found themselves taking jobs they didn't really enjoy, but the hours and pay scale made them worthwhile.

"Until I have time to get a job I really like, I have to work at one that is less enjoyable," said junior Melinda Wales, a cashier at Popeye's.

HOMECOMING '86

A Wild Night at Winfrey

Dinner, dates, and dancing took place once again at Winfrey Point for the 1986 Homecoming Dance. Earning a football victory over Hillcrest the night before added to the excitement of the dance. Many hours were devoted to decorating and preparing for the dance by the Student Council.

On Saturday night, girls busied themselves with fixing hair and makeup while guys hurried with last minute dinner plans and counting their money. At the dance, music was cranked up as loudly as possible, and loud chatter echoed through the room while students socialized with their friends.

At the end of the dance, the homecoming court was announced with Erin Drury as the Countess, JoAnn Jurica as the Duchess, and Melissa Anderson as the Princess. Kelly Barginear was crowned Queen.

WILDCATS CONTINUE UPWARD CLIMB

Twenty One Seniors Lead Team to 8-2 Season

Completing the season with a record of 8-2, the Wildcats enjoyed the best football season since 1969. Twenty one seniors helped lead the team in scoring a total of 291 points, second in the area. Conversely, the Cats allowed only 89 points against them, which was the fourth best total defense in the North Texas area.

Opening the season against the first year Lewisville Marcus Marauders, the Wildcats rolled to a 34-6 victory. With sloppy weather conditions, the team went with the running game and gained points from Thomas Owens, Dusty Walker and Billy Hartmann.

The second victory came at the expense of Bishop Lynch, 40-0. The third game proved no more difficult, with the Wildcats defeating the Poly Parrots in Ft. Worth, 32-6. Dusty Walker, Thomas Owens, and Steve Dotson all reached the end zone. Despite apprehension over facing a 5A team, the Wildcats drilled the Samuell Spartans, 33-10.

District play, however, proved to be another matter as the hope for an undefeated season ended with a one point loss to Seagoville in the fifth game of the season. Later, this loss would keep the team out of the playoffs in a close race.

Back on the track after the defeat, though, the Cats rolled to a total of 67 points against Adamson and North Dallas, allowing neither team to score. A fired up team then broke a two year losing streak against Madison, defeating the Trojans 28-0. However, they weren't so successful against Lincoln, suffering their second loss on a sunny Saturday afternoon. Neither team scored on offense, but the Tigers returned a punt and an interception for two touchdowns and a 15-0 win.

With playoff hopes looking dim, the Cats faced arch-rival Hillcrest in the homecoming finale. The team, wearing all red, took a resounding 20-8 halftime lead, but with 1:40 left in the game, the Wildcats and their 3,000 fans found themselves down by 28-20. Taking the ball on their own 25, the offense marched down the field to the Hillcrest 35. Billy Hartmann then found Dusty Walker in the end zone on the next play. A two point conversion tied the game at 28.

Going for the win, the Wildcats recovered an onside kick, driving themselves and their fans into a frenzy. Hartmann again found Walker to drive the ball to the 40 yard line with 40 seconds left to play. In desperation, Hartmann designed the final play. With Hillcrest blitzing, the offensive line held long enough for Hartmann to heave a desperation pass to Walker, who was in the midst of triple coverage. Walker came down with the pass in the end zone allowing the Cats to walk away with a 35-28 victory.

Post season honors included 10 players being named to the All District team. Offensive players were Billy Hartmann, first team quarterback; Dusty Walker, first team receiver; Mike Rodriguez, first team tackle; Jason Hammond, first team center; Thomas Owens, second team running back; Juan Abelino, second team guard. Defensive players named to the squad were Sonny Santoyo, first team end; Ivan Pugh, first team tackle; Bryan McManus, first team linebacker; and Eric Drury, first team safety. FRESHMAN, SOPHOMORE TEAM: PLEASANT SURPRISE

The combination of freshmen and sophomores on the junior varsity squad proved to be the formula needed to attain the team's best record since 1974. With a host of new faces a positive outcome for the season seems doubtful, since very few of the players had ever worked with their coaching counterparts.

However, when the dust cleared, the young wildcats had attained a 4-2-4 record. Said Coach Wolf, "Without a lot of hard work and cooperation from players and coaches alike, this never would have been possible."

Volleyball Wins District; Girls Win Two Straight Titles

For the first time in several years, the volleyball team won the district championship by defeating favored Lincoln.

The girls finished the season with a 16-5 record, losing only one district game. Three of their losses came against 5A schools, although they defeated three 5A teams. They also played in the Berkner-Richardson tournament.

"The team was better than expected," said

Coach Cassandra McCurdy. "Some new editions helped us out."

Coach McCurdy also cited togetherness as a factor. "The girls worked together as a family. They all had good attitudes, worked hard and presented good team effort," she said.

The girls received many post-season honors. Sophomore Claudia Hernandez and senior Bertha Matlock were named to the first team All District, while junior Shywannah Johnson made the second team. Lashon Crowder made the honorable mention list. Belva Wilkerson was Sophomore of the Year, senior Tonia Lawrence was named Player of the Year, and Cassandra McCurdy was Coach of the Year.

"Without Coach McCurdy, we wouldn't have had the dedication and devotion a winning team needs. Fortunately, our team had both," said Lashon.

With a 15-3 record, the junior varsity volleyball team had a bright season.

"I had my most successful season ever in volleyball," said Coach Vicki Burris. "Our district record was 13-1, and we were co-champions with Lincoln."

Coach Burris named Francie Hansen, Wanda Arce, Cheryl Hartwell and Tsega Habtemariam as leading contributors to the team's success.

Team work was a key factor in the numerous victories. "I expected my players to be dedicated and to work hard during practice. I also stress team work because I feel it is important for success," said Coach Burris.

The varsity basketball team suffered through another long season this year. Although size, speed, and numbers hampered the team, nothing could dampen their indomitable spirits. Although the team won only one game, they gave good effort and never gave up.

Varsity Girls Near .500

The varsity girls basketball team posted a 4-6 record.

Outstanding contributors to the team included Tonya Lawrence, Bertha Matlock, JoAnn Jurica, Shywannah Johnson and LaQuenda Medford. Coach Vicki Burris was pleased with the season because the majority of the varsity players were sophomores.

Coach Burris said, "I feel our team was very successful, not only did we do well, but our team worked enthusiastically and very hard together." She also said, "We will be in content for next season's district championship, considering the fact our J.V. outstanding girls will be with our varsity team."

J.V. girls finish 7-5

The girls junior varsity basketball team finished with a season which pleased both their coach and fans. Outstanding players were Francie Hansen, who played mainly an inside game, and Erin Drury, who was the playmaker. Coach Cassandra McCurdy said, "I feel like it was a successful season. I am proud of the team because they worked hard all year long and worked well as a unit." She said the team improved after every appearance on the court. As the season went on, the J.V. squad began to develop discipline, she added.

Boys' Soccer

Setting goals for next year

The boys' soccer team got off to an exceedingly good start. At the beginning of the season their record was 6-1. One of the most exciting games of the season was the victory over Seagoville, 11-2.

New coach, Daniel Levanos said, "The guys play hard and work well together. They should have a good chance at winning District." There are eighteen players in all. Some of the most valuable players are Blas Agayo, Fidel Castro, Tad George, Andy Morgan, and Calixto Zapien.

The players practiced hard every afternoon, and sometimes late into the night. They learned how to pass the ball with ease, and how to maneuver the ball with their footwork.

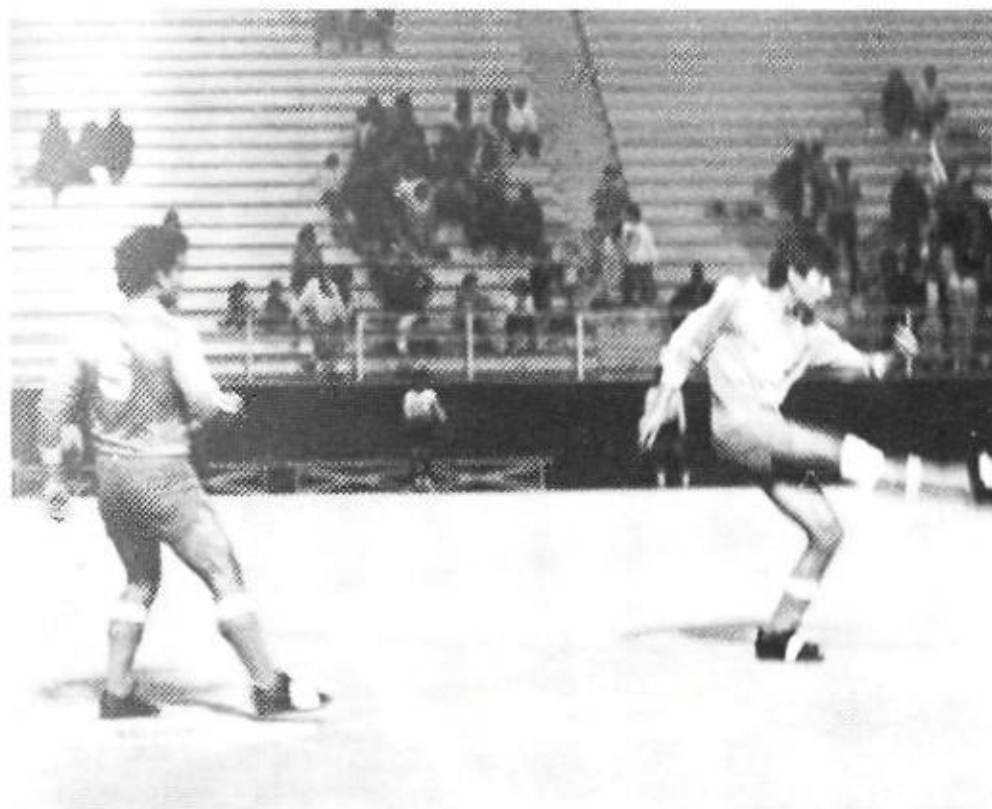

Next year, many of the players will return, and many new players will be joining the team. Next season promises to be one to look forward to.

Girls' Soccer Team Enjoys Good Season

The girl's soccer team, under the direction of Vicki Burris, had a good season despite a few losses. Some of the team's most outstanding players were freshmen Molly Arnold, Dorian Berman, Erin Drury, Francie Hansen, and Jessica Riggan, who received All District First Team. Sophomores Claudie Hernandez and Maria Cuevas were assets to the team. Juniors Tsega Habetamarian and Tina Richmond also showed their outstanding ability.

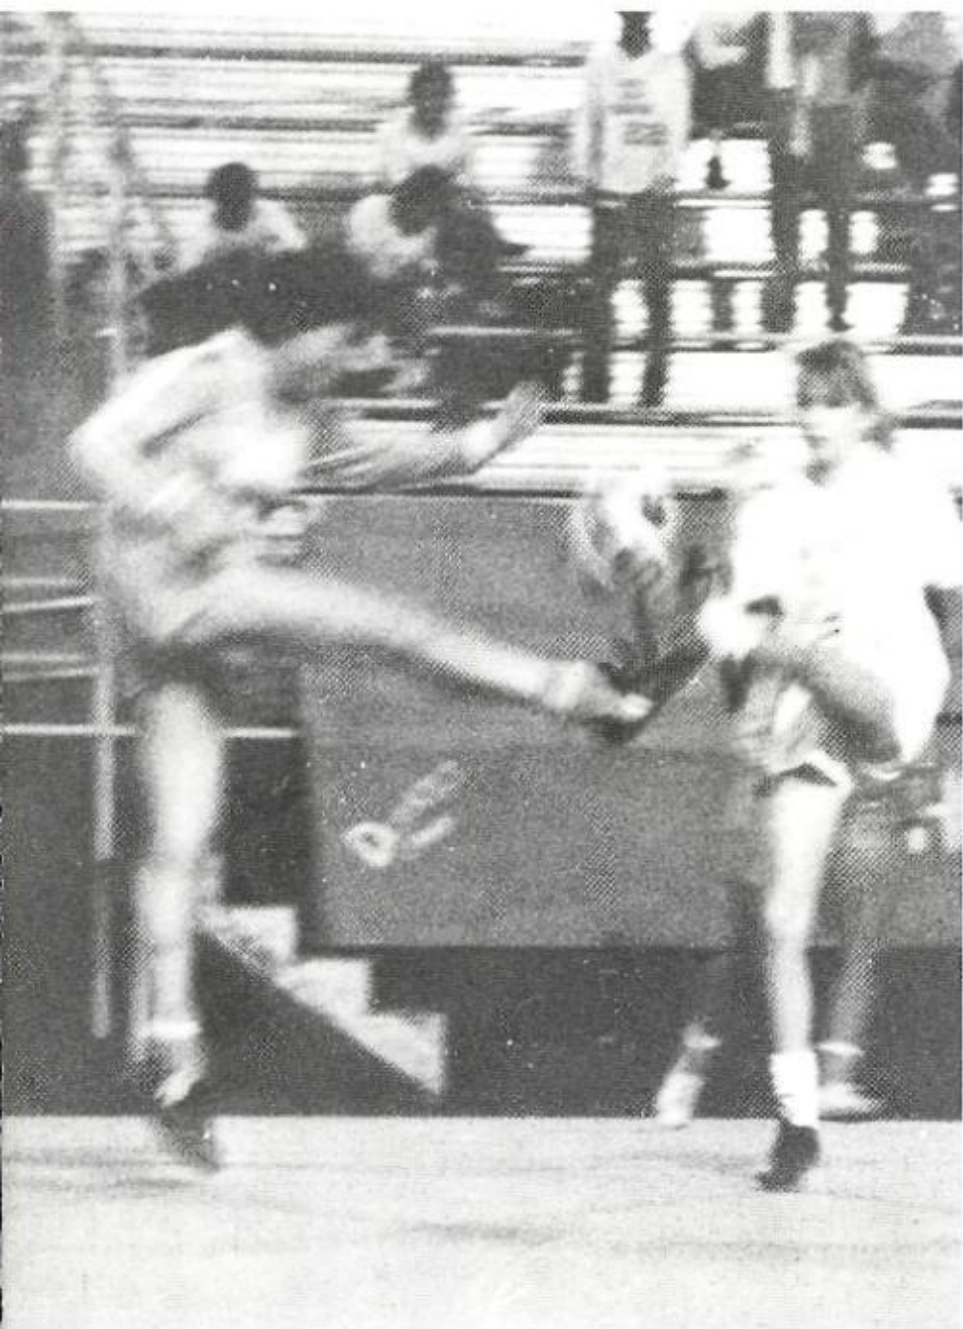

In all, the team was fourth in District. Coach Burris said, "The girls work well together and I think they will have a good chance at District next year." These girls worked hard and will continue to work hard next year. We're looking forward to next year's season.

THE WILD

Once again the Woodrow Wilson swim team qualified several of its members for Regional competition. The swim team has competed consistently at this level for the past 5 years. Regional qualifiers were Terry and Kelly Barginear, Laura Riggan, Dorian Burman, Kristin Shockley, Marci Dacus, Erik Hansen, Dusty Walker, Jimmy Nadalini, and Paul Manik.

"Our numbers hampered us but we managed to do well in district anyway," said three year regional qualifier, senior Erik Hansen.

Tennis Team Has Winning Season

The varsity tennis team had another outstanding season. For the second year, they won the dual meet, as well as the girls' district meet.

David Stefanos took first in the boys singles, and Trevor Kreie and Jack Middleton took third in doubles. Jenni Cox and Stefanie Bauer took first in girls' doubles, while Laura Hagemann took the girls' singles title for third year in a row. Stacy Brummet was second place to Laura, "which was a nice surprise," said Coach Gayla Collinsworth. Laura also qualified for the state meet, where she placed second to the defending state champion.

Other contributors to the team included freshmen Katy Cranshaw and Molly Arnold; sophomores Ann Middleton, Clay Pendergrass, and Justin Goldman; juniors Senait Hailu, Amy Menke, Ryan Mack and Jimmy Nadalini; seniors Sheri Cox, and Albert Ramirez.

"We're looking forward to another successful year next year and repeating as girls district champion, with Laura in the finals in Austin," said Coach Collinsworth.

GIRLS TRACK TEAM SUCCEEDS

Team Overcomes Obstacles in Quest to Win

Fielding a "very young team," the girls track team had mixed success, said Coach Steve Wolf.

The best overall met, he said, was the sophomore district meet. Shannon Holley broke the sophomore city record in the 1600 and 3200 meters — records she set last year. She also had the second highest individual point total at the meet. The mile relay team — Shannon, Erin Drury, JoAnn Jurica, and Francie Hansen — took third place. The 800 meter relay — Erin, Francie, JoAnn and Alisa Chittum, placed fourth. JoAnn placed first in the 100 meter hurdles, and Erin took third. Francie was fourth in the 200 meters. Shari Tucker was sixth in the discuss, while Claudia Hernandez was fourth. Amy Dixon and Shannon tied for second in the high jump, and JoAnn placed fourth.

In the varsity district meet, Amy also placed fourth in the high jump. Three girls placed in the 3200 meters: Shannon third, Isela Castro fifth, and Carmena Castro sixth. In the 1600 meters, Cristina Oarsa was third, Jessica Riggan was fifth. Shannon took fourth in the 800. "But the highlight of the meet," said Coach Wolf, "was Erin Drury's third place in the hurdles." It was a bit of an upset.

Summing up the season, the team had "quality, just not much quantity," said Coach Wolf.

Boys Work Overtime

Despite the loss of the 1986's strong seniors, the track team, having only nine members, concentrated on the areas in which they could compete well.

Dusty Walker and Andre Copling ran the hurdles, Bobby Jefferson ran the 200 meter dash, Gary Boston ran the 800 meter dash, and Renee Castro and Joshua Gifford ran the mile and two mile. Scott Turner ran the 400 meter dash and Dusty Walker, Bobby Jefferson, Scott Turner, Andre Copling and Gary Boston ran the 400 meter relay and 1600 meter relay. The coach of the team was John Kelly.

Program Consists of a Few GOOD Men

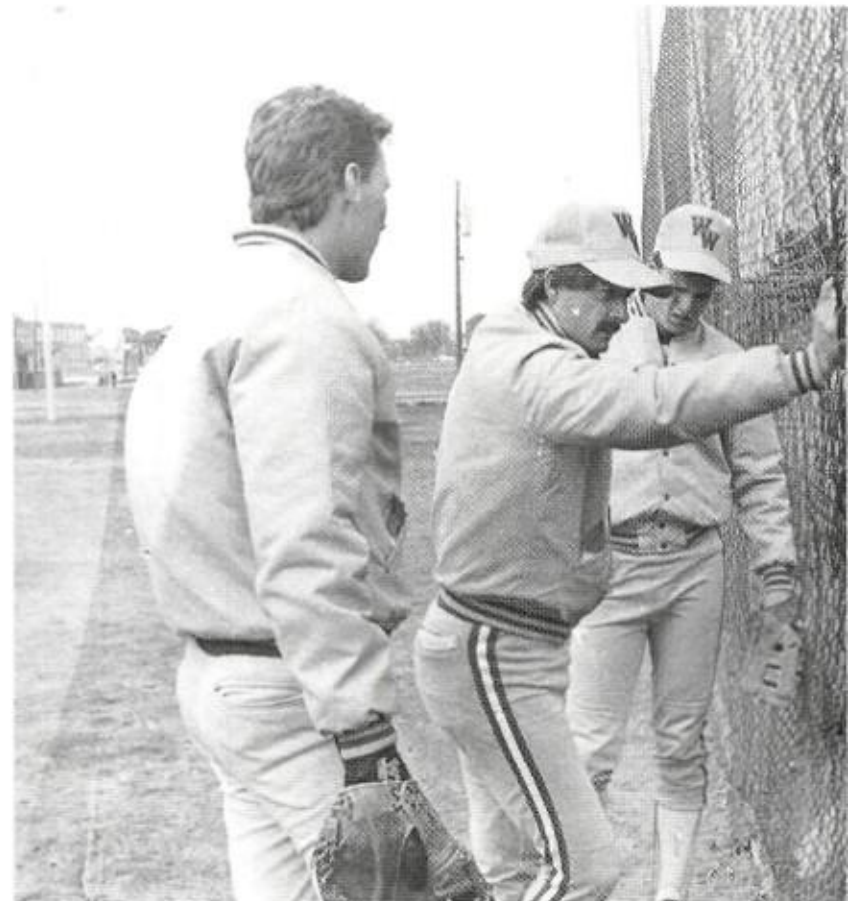

With a lot of hard work and a little luck the Wildcats turned a losing season into one of productivity and victory. The team won nine out of its last 10 games, eight of which were in district play. Although the Wildcats finished the district with 8-4 record, they missed the district playoffs by one game. And though the Wildcats did not make the playoffs, they did defeat

Seagoville and Hillcrest, the two teams who did advance to post season play.

"This team has a lot of heart, they played against extremely difficult odds and pulled through. The wins against Hillcrest and Seagoville made the year and proved to everyone that Woodrow can compete," said Coach Paul Bozarth.

Activities

Performing

for the community

The choir, Variations, and orchestra dedicated their year to performing for the community and the school. They also spent much of their time competing district-wide.

The DISD solo/ensemble contest, held on January 31, awarded the girls and boys ensembles a Division I rating. The soloists, Melinda Payne and Jason Kulas, also received a Division I rating.

The Variations also received a Division I rating. Both Variations and choir performed the musical "Bye, Bye Birdie" on March 6th and 7th.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Waggoner, the 10 member orchestra performed concerts at school. These included PTA dinner theaters, promotionals for Woodrow cluster at elementary schools, and a cluster concert on May 7.

Richard Morris concentrated on his solo.

Performing for the Crowd

The Sweethearts, Varsity Cheerleaders and J.V. Cheerleaders all performed at their best the entire year. All groups worked hard, but had fun at the same time. They gave their full support at every game.

The Sweethearts led by captains Linda Carrasco, Jennifer Cranshaw, Shari Lerner, Heather Mabry, and sponsored by Ms. Collinsworth, had a very successful year. They performed at half time at each varsity football game. Each week a "Sweetheart of the Week" was chosen for her cooperative attitude and dedication. The annual banquet was held and the new captains were announced along with "The Most Outstanding Sweetheart". Recipients were Jill Pouncey and Dee Symns, chosen for their leadership and dedication.

The Varsity Cheerleaders promoted school spirit all year at games and pep assemblies. At S.M.U. Cheerleading Camp, they won three superior ribbons, two excellent ribbons and a spirit stick. They also received a nomination of excellence. A major event was the annual community pep rally held at Lakewood Bank before the Homecoming game. Felicia Mena was chosen as most outstanding cheerleader for her ability to get along with others, her enthusiasm and overall spirit. Ms. Parrett was the sponsor of this spirited group.

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders worked very hard to promote spirit for the J.V. football team. The girls started practicing two days a week during the summer. They also practiced everyday after school during the football season. The girls gave everyone on the J.V. football team treats before one of the games. During the last pep assembly, they followed tradition and performed "Rock Steady" with the varsity squad.

Performing with Precision

The Band, Flag Corps, and ROTC all provided for the development of skills as well as for the entertainment for the half-time crowds.

The Band through the leadership of band majors Brian Allen and Danny Regalado, rose to new heights. They got an early jump on the year by performing in the Swiss Avenue Parade. The Marching Band ignited the huge crowds at the half-time performances. They also picked up school spirit at pep rallies held once a week. In the U.I.L. Marching Band Contest the band had a great showing. The band performed in the PTA Christmas concert and in the Concert of American Music.

Hard work and many hours dedicated to practicing throughout the year led the band to a productive and successful year.

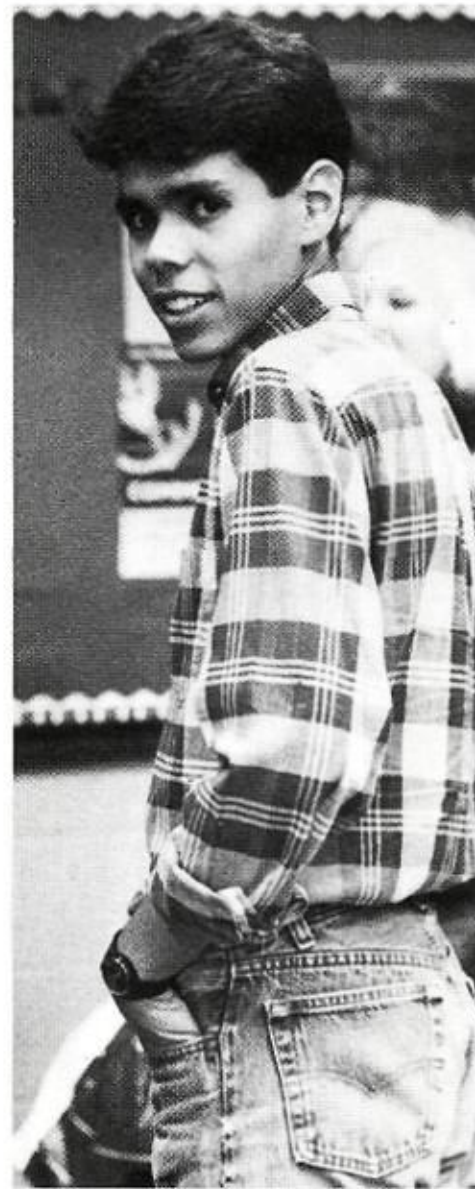

The Flag and Rifle Corps added excitement to the half-time performances. They participated in Woodrow's pep rallies. The girls practiced from 7:30 to 9:30 to achieve precision in their routines. The Corps has 4 members led by Captain Carrie Chapman.

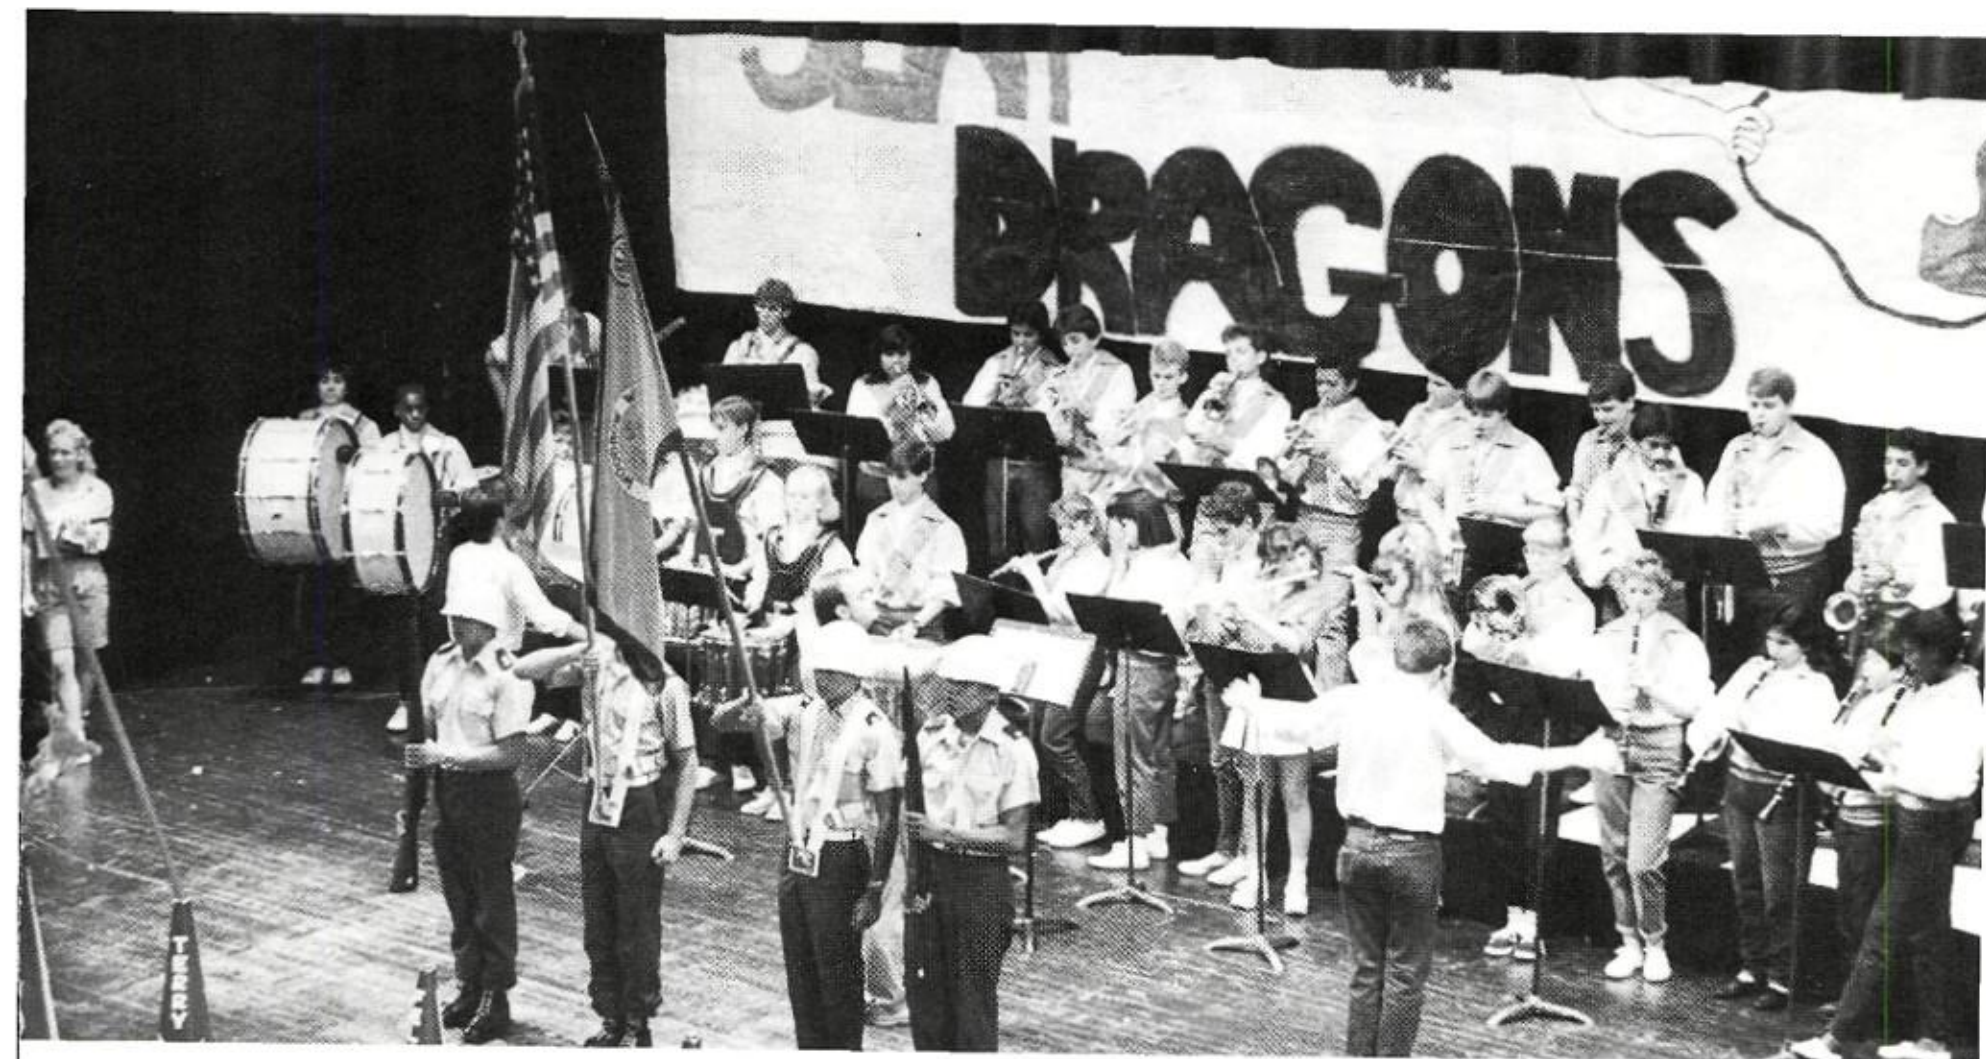

While giving outstanding performances the ROTC members acquired many skills. Learning to appreciate ethnic values and principles, developing good leadership abilities, and gaining knowledge of educational opportunities offered by the United States Army, are only a few among many objectives that are designated to be learned by the Junior Reserve Officers Training Corps Cadet. ROTC students were also taught sharpness in marching and accuracy in shooting. Wearing their uniforms once a week for the purpose of inspection and grading, students learned that cleanliness and neatness are important. ROTC sponsored the Turkey Shoot in which the winner received a turkey.

Serving the Community

The Y-Teens, Red Cross, and Library Council shared community involvement and school services.

The Y-Teens, sponsored by Mrs. Winifret Cox, made their nine members count. They took tray favors to the General Hospital of Lakewood and held an Easter egg hunt for a local nursery school. They raised money for membership fees and T-shirts for all members. The officers were Sandy Sharpless, president; Tenna Alexander, vice president; Dana Daniels, secretary; Jackie Askew, treasurer, and Altha Weaver and Teresa Portillo were the ICC representatives.

The Red Cross took tray favors to the Juliette Fowler Home for Halloween and Christmas. In the spring, they made Easter baskets for the Head Start program. The club, sponsored by Mrs. Bradley Sue Howell, had 17 members. The officers were Layla Salim, president; Bara Som, vice president; Margaret Guidroz, secretary; Nicole Falco, treasurer, and Kelli Culpepper, historian.

The Library Council helped the library run smoothly. The students checked books in and out, wrote overdue notices and fine slips, helped other students, made displays, shelved and reviewed books, and made copies. They put on the New Book Exhibit and the Cultural Experience Visits of Authors/Illustrators. The club sponsored by Mrs. Bradley Sue Howell and Mrs. Johnetta Williams, had 23 members. The officers were Brian Allen and Tesfai Habtemarian, co-presidents; Chris Alcantar, first vice president; Kathryn Holtzworth, second vice president; and Julia Jurica, secretary.

Serving

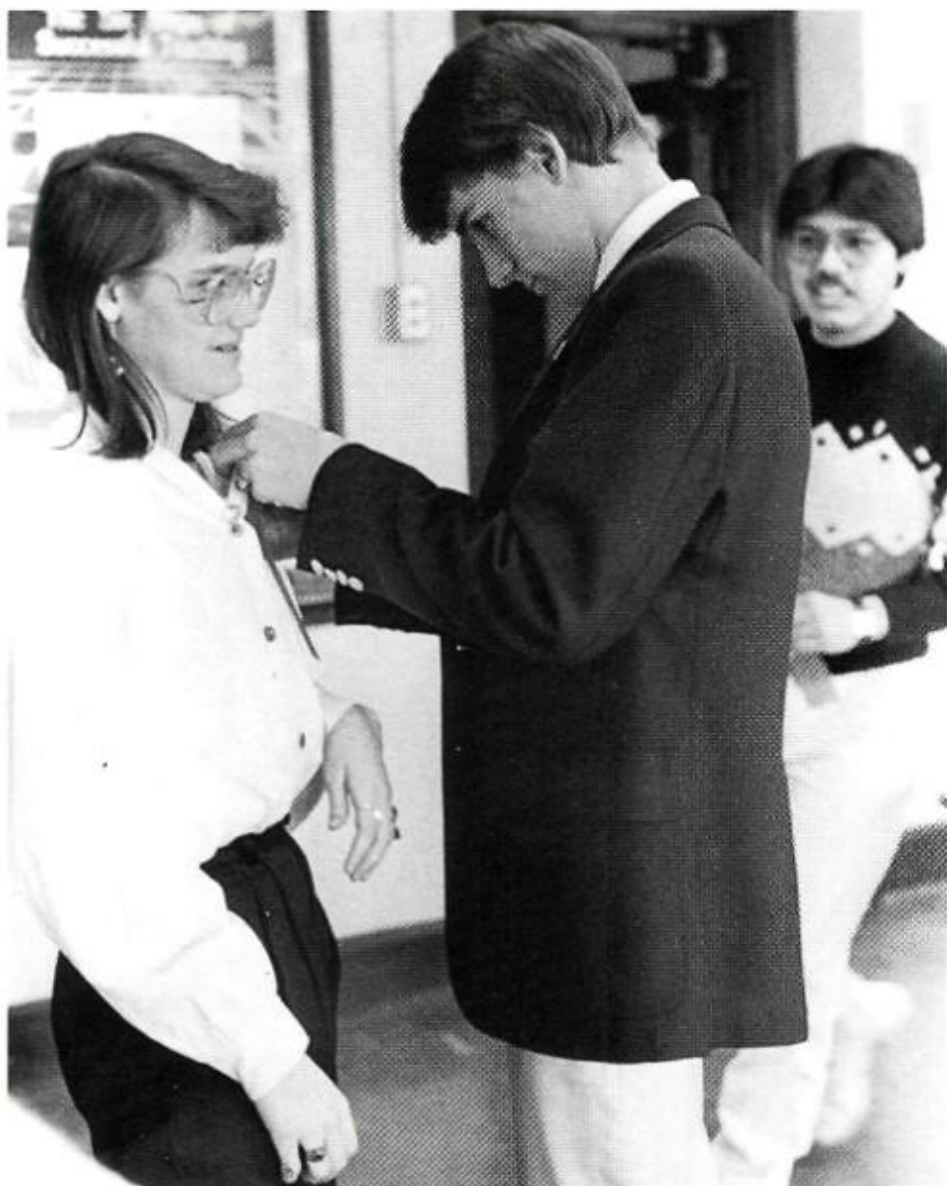

with honor

Woodrow Wilson students receive many honors during the year. Two of the groups that honor Wildcat students are Quill and Scroll and National Honor Society.

Quill and Scroll is an honor society for high school journalists who have shown outstanding talent in the field of journalism. The society has chapters all over the world and is sponsored by the University of Iowa. To be selected for Quill and Scroll, members had to qualify in several areas. They had to be either a junior or senior ranked in the upper third of their class.

National Honor Society excels in academic pursuits. Second year N.H.S. members pinned new inductees during third period. Selection into the group is a nationally recognized honor. To be selected, students must maintain a high grade point average and be approved by Woodrow's faculty.

Their annual banquet was held at Spaghetti Warehouse at the end of the year. The sponsor was Arlene Cooper, and the officers were: President, Amy Overton; Vice-President, Chris Quillin; Secretary, Jill Pouncey.

The 1986-87 Yearbook Quill and Scroll members are Jennifer Cranshaw, Jill Pouncey, Shari Lerner, Denise McGill, Jason Hammond, Julie Hensley, Melissa Anderson, Amy Menke and Dusty Walker.

Second year member Chris Quillin pins a surprised Carrie Chapman.

Serving

the Student Body

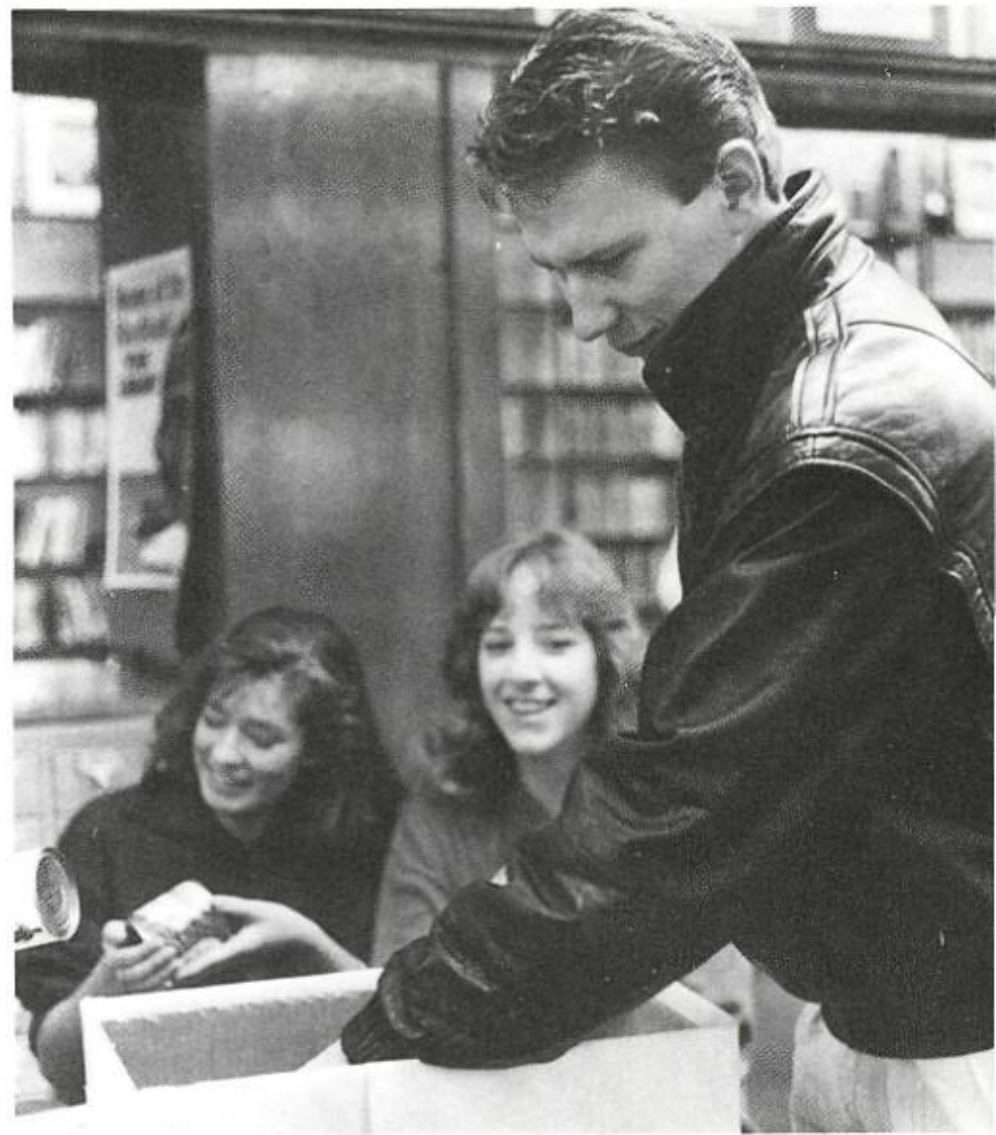

The Student Council and Key Club both served the school and the community in a variety of ways.

The Student Council, under the leadership of Mrs. Ruth Struble, had a very successful year. All forty-six members maintained outstanding grade point averages throughout the year. The Homecoming Dance, annually sponsored by Student Council, was a great success, titled "A Wild Night at Winfrey." The Student Council also held a canned food drive to provide needy families with food and some Christmas cheer.

Officers were: President, Billy Hartmann; Vice-President, Erik Hansen; and Secretary, Jason Hammond. The Social Committee

Chairperson was Dee Symns, and the Elections Committee Chairperson was Amy Overton.

The Key Club, in its second year, sponsored several successful projects. The group held a book drive, raised funds for needy families over Thanksgiving, and hosted the second annual Christmas party for underprivileged children. Club member Jason Hammond said the club was a "great way to help the community." The Key Club was sponsored by Coach Steve Wolf and the officers were: President, Eric Drury; Vice-President, Andre Copling; and Secretary, Bill Taylor. Scott Turner, Juan Abelino, Kevin Corgan, and Jason Hammond served on the executive board.

Serving

the Wildcats

The Art Club, newspaper and yearbook staffs spent many hours producing artwork and publications for the school.

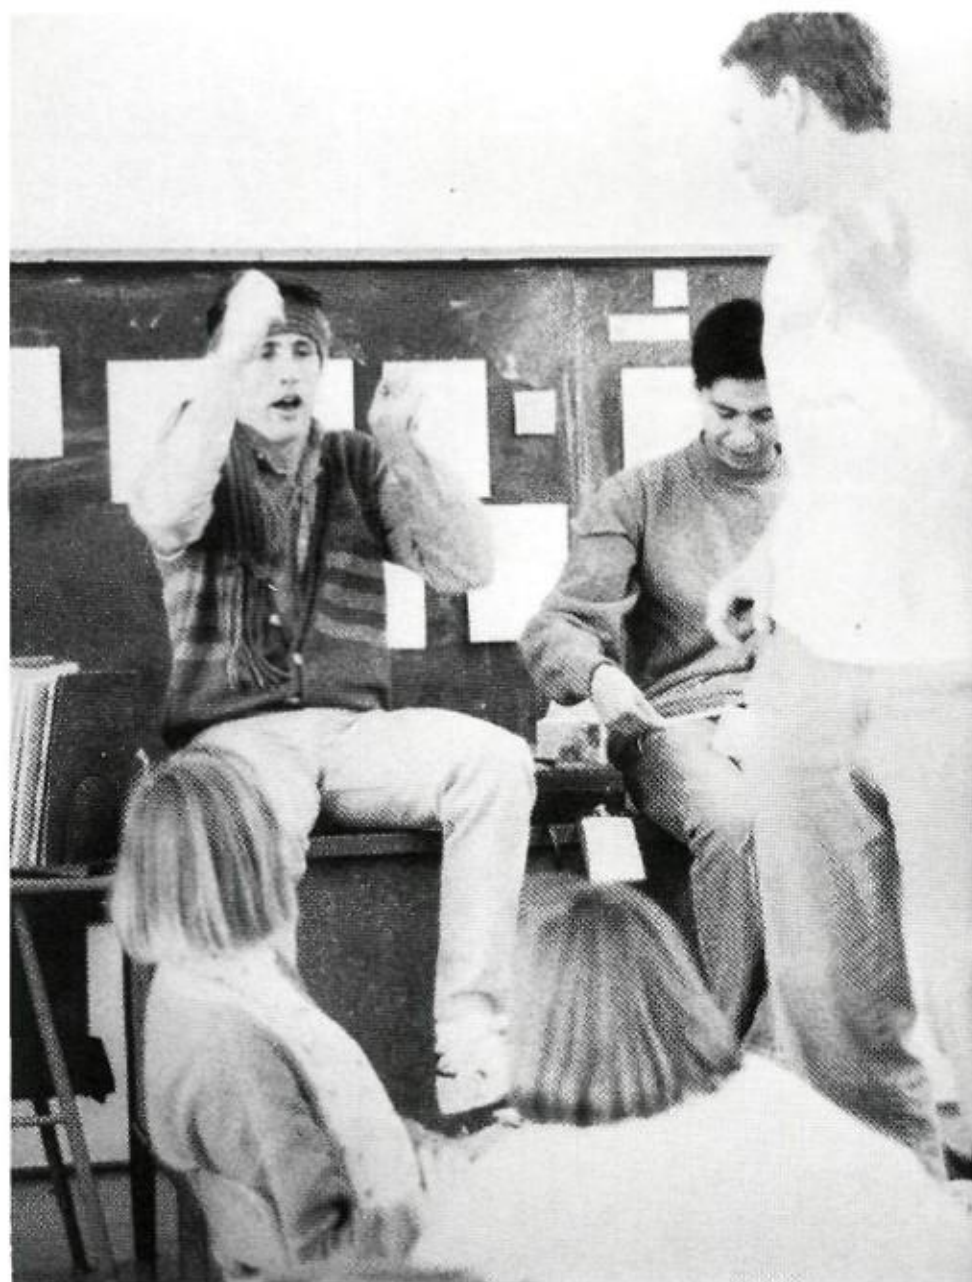

The Art Club, sponsored by Mr. Chapa, consists of students from all classes. They meet every other week to discuss fund raisers and other activities. This is the first time in 4 years that Woodrow has had an Art Club and it has been a success. They held a fund raiser hoping to make enough money to go to Paris, France or Paris, Texas depending on if they make enough money. Officers were Dianne Griggs and Amber Crawford, co-presidents; Julie Hensley, vice president; Erik Travis, treasurer; Laura Riggan, secretary; Shari Lerner, activity coordinator; Amy Anderson, entertainment coordinator; Richard Andreason, sergeant of arms; Paul Maniak, private of arms.

Yearbook staff members began the year attending a summer workshop at SMU, planning the book's design and deadlines. They worked on writing stories and drawing pages. Despite the theft of the school's camera equipment, staff members managed to make a major deadline in December and complete the book in February.

Newspaper staff members were hampered all year long by a lack of funds and an apathetic student response to the publication. Members did manage to write and design several issues of the paper.

Serving the students

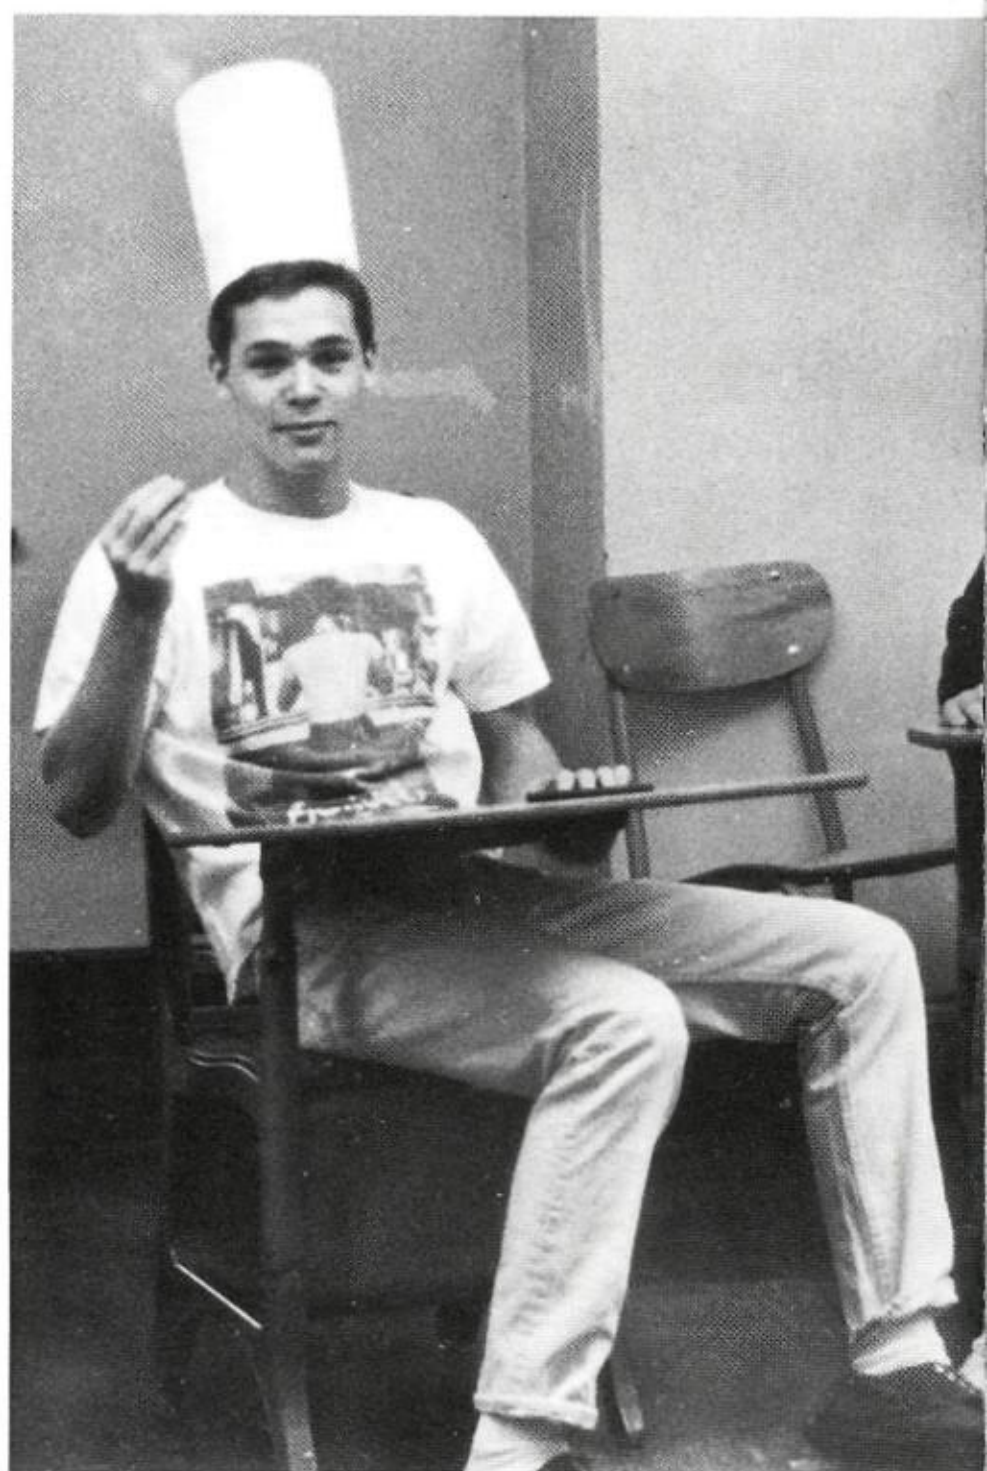

Foreign language clubs gave students the chance to extend learning beyond the classroom and have fun.

The Spanish Club, referred to as the Pan American Student Forum, raised money by selling candy for a yearly trip to San Antonio for a statewide convention and by holding a Mr. Ugly contest to raise money for Pesos-for-Braces, an organization that helps pay the cost of leg braces for needy, crippled children. They sponsored an annual Christmas party at the Anita Martinez Recreation Center in West Dallas for the children. The club had 60 members with Miss Betty Parrett as the sponsor. The officers were Kim Ferrantello, president; Penny Gamez, vice president; Bertha Olivo, treasurer; Linda Carrasco, secretary; and Jill Pouncy, historian.

The Latin Club had a different sponsor, Mrs. Lee Ann Walser, the new Latin teacher. Their Christmas Party took place at Mrs. Walser's house where they watched movies and ate pizza. In March they held their annual Ides of March party and celebrated by holding a special dinner party. The officers were Julie Hensley, president; Kevin Corgan, vice president; Amber Crawford, secretary; Charlotte La Fontaine, treasurer; and Ray Bodine, historian.

The French Club, sponsored by Mr. Monty Holamon, had another active year. Along with the Spanish and ESOL clubs, they had a Christmas dinner at Enchiladas. Before Easter, they celebrated Mardi Gras with a dinner and by making masks out of paper-mache and other mediums. The club had 32 members with Jim Nadalini, president and Melinda Wales, vice president.

Serving the Students

The FCA, FTA, and FHA reached out to the community to help both neighbors and members.

The Fellowship of Christian Athletes provided an organization for athletes to develop a Christian attitude towards life.

Sponsored by Coach Billy Clark, the group attended the state convention, the Cotton Bowl breakfast, and the Game Day Witness activities as well as several other functions.

FCA officers were: President, Bill Taylor; Vice-President, Billy Hartmann; Secretary, Kevin Corgan; and Treasurer, Jimmy Nadalini.

FTA, the Future Teachers of America, had a successful and active year. The main function of the FTA was to develop qualities in students who planned to be teachers. Sponsors were Johnetta Williams, Bradley Sue Howell, and Demetri Cotton.

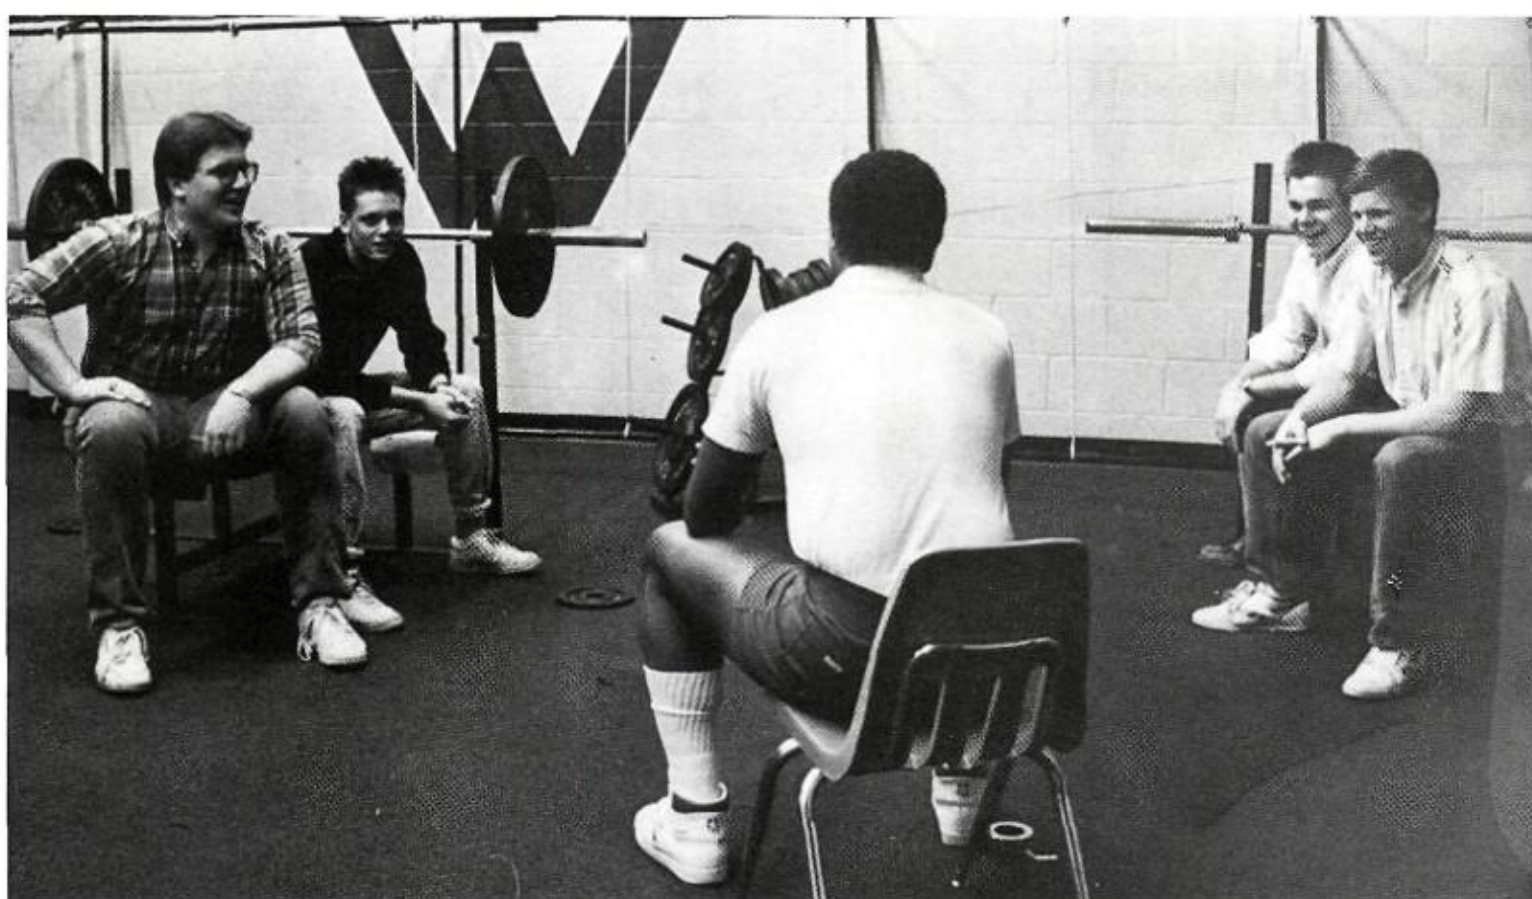

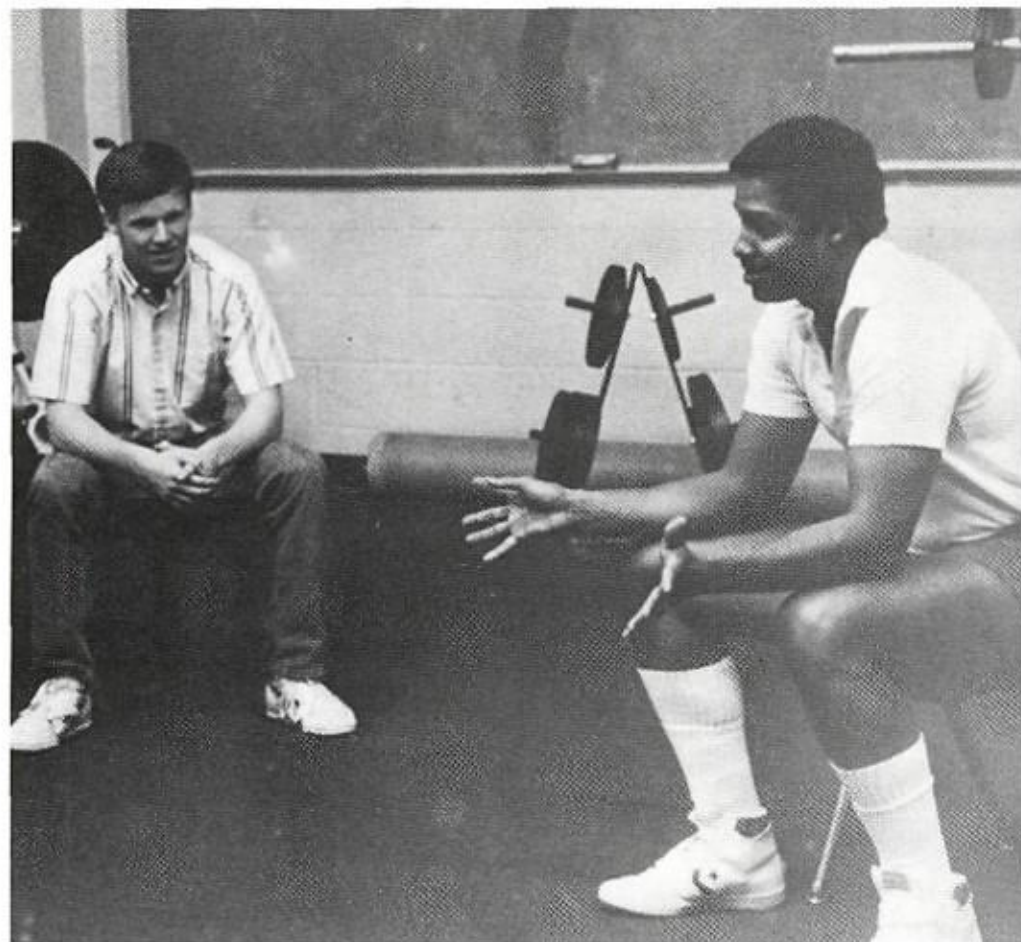

The Woodrow branch of FTA attended the District X Leadership Convention, and sponsored the "Guess the Baby Picture Contest." The group received a Citation from the DISD School Board, as well as several other awards for its individual members.

The FHA enjoyed a fruitful year. Sponsors Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Braun provided students with necessary homemaking skills as well as positive life skills. "I liked it because it brought a lot of different people together," said Shana Baker, a sixth period member. The FHA had officers for each of the five mini-chapters. The group's main thrust came at Christmas when it hosted the FHA community Christmas service project, although it remained active throughout the year.

Serving the Community

The ESOL and TIASA served the school and community in individual and unique ways.

The English for Speakers of Other Languages Club, of approximately 100 members, met once a month to plan fun events and service projects. One particularly exciting event was the Halloween Masquerade Party. Other functions held were the Christmas Dinner with the PSAF and the French Club. Also, the ESOL Club participated in the Asian Week Celebration, the Cinco de Mayo Celebration, and the end of the year picnic. The group sold candy to raise scholarship funds. Club officers were President — Ludy Escanlar, Vice-President — Rene Castro, Treasurer — Rocio Baldez, and Secretary — Atisa Shirwani and Michelle Mendoza.

The TIASA Club was an active club year round in promoting student involvement in industrial arts. In the fall the club designed and made wooden banks to sell as fund raisers. Students also planned a club food drive for needy families. To accomplish these activities club members met before school once a week. In the spring, the club members participated in regional and state competitions. Sponsors: Bob Cargile and Maurice Gindratt lead the club. Club officers were: Pres. — Edward Cruz, Vice-Pres. — Reynaldo Escanlar, Secretary — Laura Hagemann, Reporter — Jennifer Gallenberger, Treasurer — Rogelio Ramos, and Sergeant-at-arms — Jose Escanlar.

Working

for skills

VOE offers students opportunities for much individual instruction. A VOE student practices word-processing skills during an after school work session.

OEA and HERO gave students useful life-skills as well as practical knowledge.

OEA helped to provide students with skills they would need for future employment. Some of the skills developed by the group dealt with the use of office machines, office procedures, and job search techniques. As a group, OEA sponsored the taste-test for Frito-Lay. Member Maria Garcia won the OEA contest. "I like it because it prepares us for the future," said Vice-President Miriam Barrientos. Sponsors were Mrs. Ruth Struble and Mrs. Geriselda Balboa. Club officers were: President, Bianca Castro; Vice-President, Miriam Barrientos; and Secretary, Connie Marin.

HERO, the Home Economics Related Occupational classes, gave students valuable skills. The group met in class daily, but also had several outside service projects. HERO took a Christmas tree to the Fowler Nursing Home, passed out cookies and gave Christmas cards to the senior citizens. The group also held an employee appreciation dinner at the Colony Parke Hotel.

HERO was sponsored by Mrs. Helen Nauman. The group had officers for each of its two classes; President, Stephanie Thomas and Rosalinda Villanueva; Vice-Presidents, Lois Pekar and Mario Cisnero; Secretaries Bianca Reyna and Shana Waters. Graciela Luna, Geraldo Valdez, Karen Owens, and Pam Hicks were historians.

Layla Salim helps Bora Som keep a business record set.

Working

for experience

Students who participated in Distributive Education Clubs of America and Vocational Industrial Clubs of America acquired skills for careers in management and industrial jobs.

DECA offered students experience in travel and competition. During the class students acquired skills in marketing, merchandising, management, and service selling. These students studied the free enterprise system, marketing and distribution of goods and services, business mathematics, and human relations in business. The officers were President, Alan Powell; Vice President, Nicky Ventura; Historian, Alex Sandoval; and Reporter, Adam Ybarra.

Skaggs Alphabet on Mockingbird and Kroger's on Henderson are some locations where you found VICA members working after school and on weekends. This class, headed by Mr. Mitchell, helped teach good work habits, select career goals, and helped them get along with other people. The officers were President, Vernon Klein; Vice President, Everado Quintero; Secretary, Ana Garcia; and Treasurer, Keith Horton.

10th Grade Easier

For most sophomores, the move from the ninth to tenth grade was a welcome one.

Although classwork often intensified, the move up in status compensated for it.

"Even though I have more homework, I like being a sophomore better than being a freshman," said sophomore Jason Overton.

Sophomores found themselves with more privileges as well. Many gained their drivers' licenses and cars. Others were able to get jobs and earn their own money.

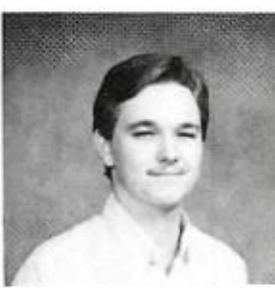

"I like being able to drive rather than depend on others for rides," said sophomore Kristin Shockley.

Being a student wasn't always easy, but sophomores seemed to find the road easier.

CLASS RINGS AND PLEASANT DREAMS

Anticipating walking across the stage someday in a cap and gown brought more than pleasant daydreams, many juniors discovered.

Decisions had to be made and questions answered. Juniors found themselves taking a more serious look at colleges and SAT tests and dates. Planning for the future also involved checking courses and credits to make sure graduation would arrive as planned. Junior Erica Hoefnagle prepared for college life by deciding exactly what college to attend. "I've decided on North Texas State University as my first choice and the University of Texas at Austin as a second choice."

The rituals associated with being a senior also began. Juniors ordered class rings and made appointments for senior pictures. "I can't wait to get my appointment from Gary's Studios and to order my class ring. I love high school, but I can't wait to go on to bigger and better things; college life, dorms, GUYS and college parties," said Altha Weaver. Not all Juniors planned to attend college after graduation; some had other plans. Some decided to join a branch of the armed forces, some planned to get a job right after graduation, others made plans to attend junior colleges before attending a university.

Junior Monica Hernandez decided to join the United States Air Force to begin and complete her study of aeronautics. "I fell though I can advance my knowledge in aeronautics for more better with the college job training the Air Force has to offer. My lifetime ambition of flying can easily be achieved with the help of the Air Force."

"I also plan to join the Air Force but unlike Monica plan to attend a University first, while the government pays for it, then when I finish my studies at my selected university I plan to attend medical school," said Altha.

Because of her devotion to Woodrow, Terry Barginear was chosen Miss Wildcat by the senior class. Although often confused with her twin, Terry's presence on campus was always noted. She was an active participant in athletics, particularly swimming, and was a member of the cheerleading squad as a sophomore and senior. Terry also belonged to various clubs and the Student Council.

MR. and MISS WILDCAT

Billy Hartmann won Mr. Wildcat because of his participation in every aspect of campus life. An outstanding athlete, he was also active in Variations and the musical. He was a leader in clubs and the Student Council; he served as senior class president. In addition, he was an honors student. His winning smile and good nature were known to everyone.

Academics

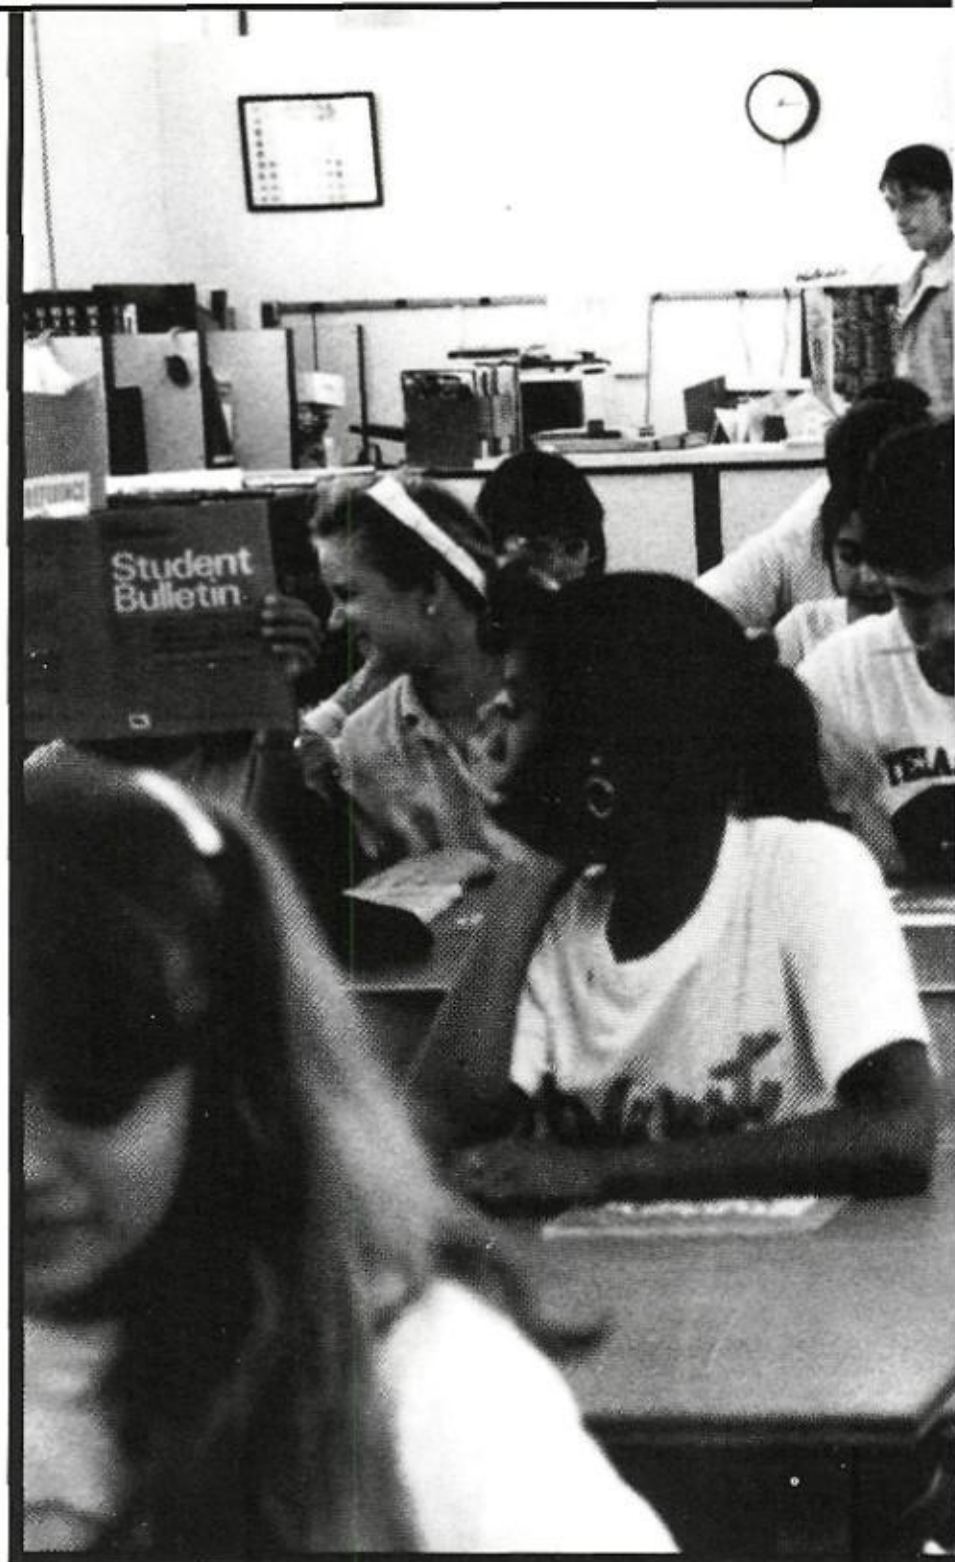

A Nerve-racking Experience

Testing was a part of every high school student's life. Semester finals, unit tests, pop quizzes and college entrance exams all contributed to late nights and frayed nerves for students and teachers alike.

Methods of studying varied. Some students chose a slow, methodical method, while others frantically crammed at the last minute. "I just couldn't get up for it until the pressure was on," said one freshman.

No matter the form and method, tests and studying both had one result: raising or lowering grades, another inevitable part of school life.

Miss Travis helps Arturo Casillar review for a test.

Students attend an SAT seminar after school in the library.

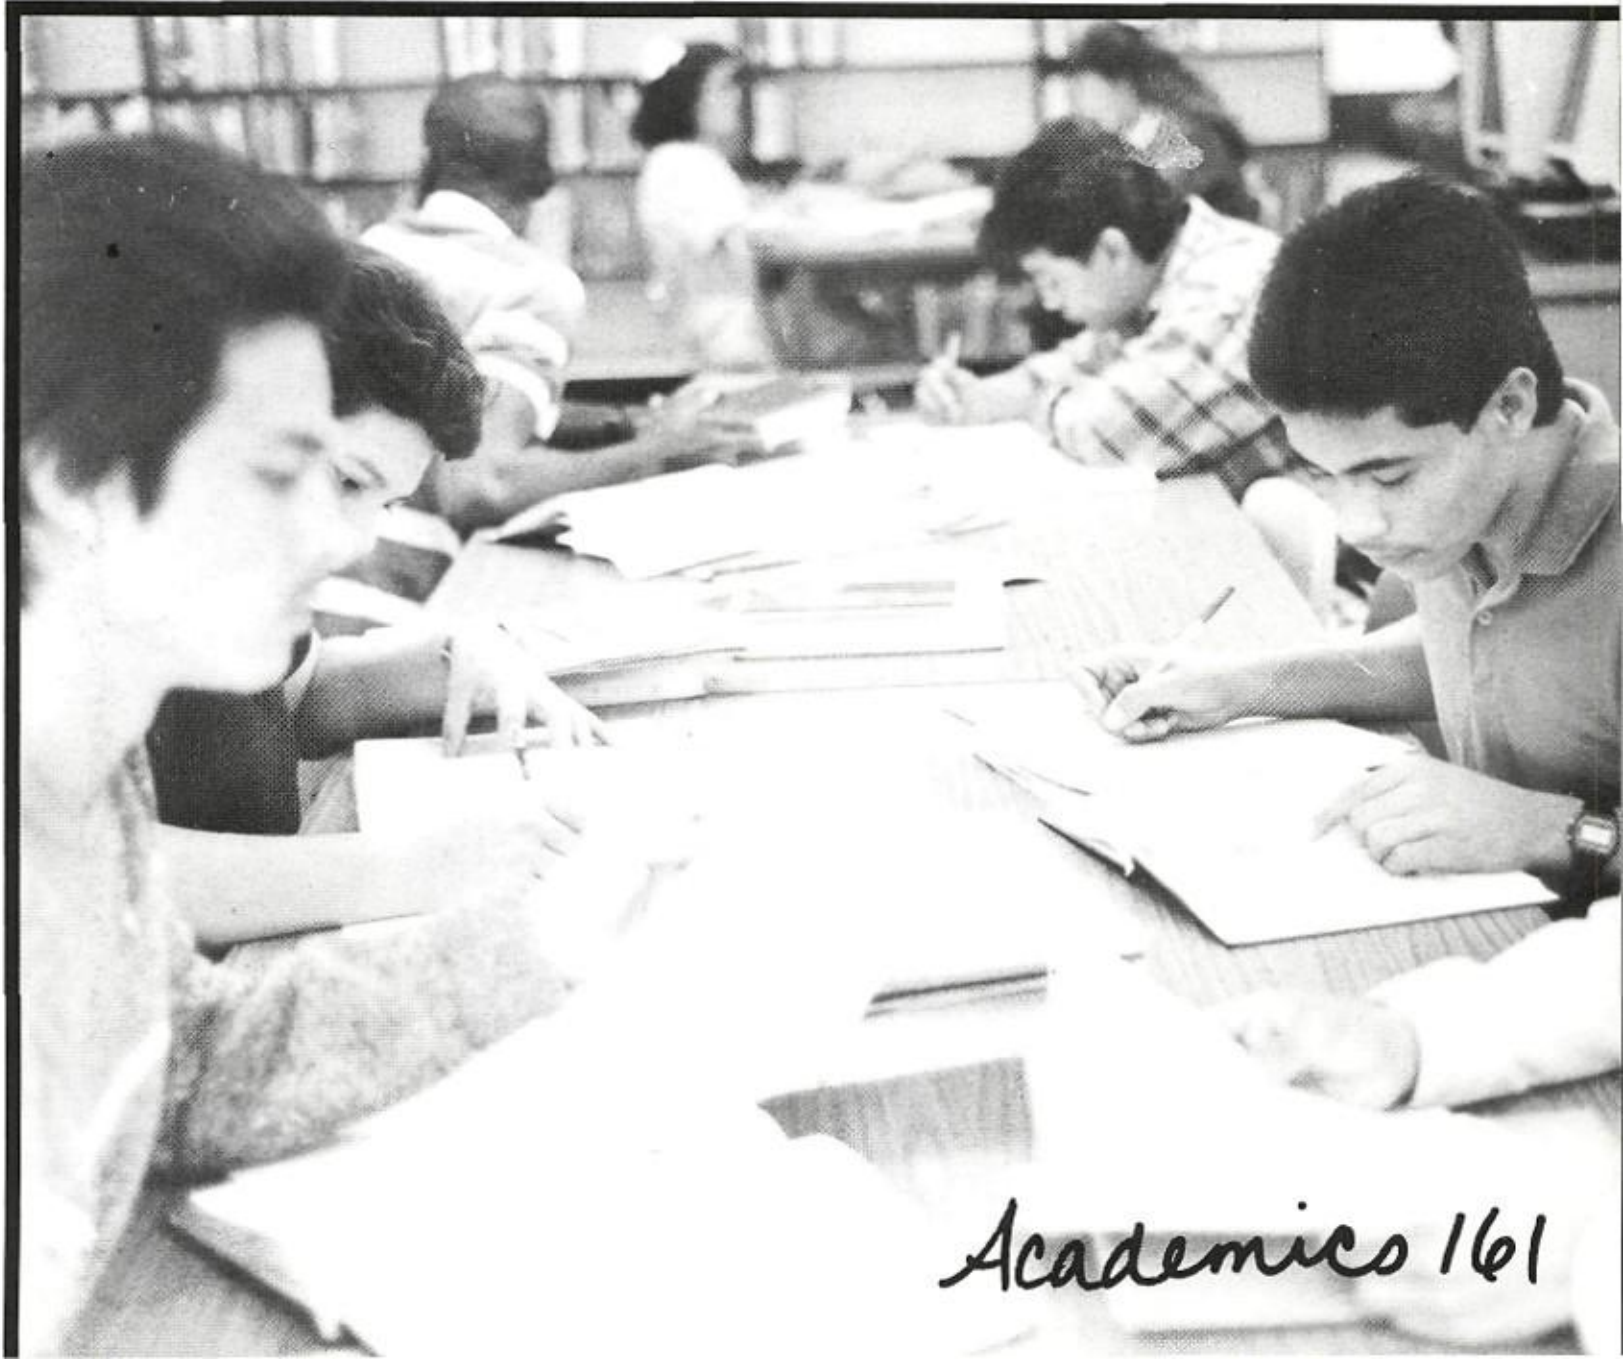

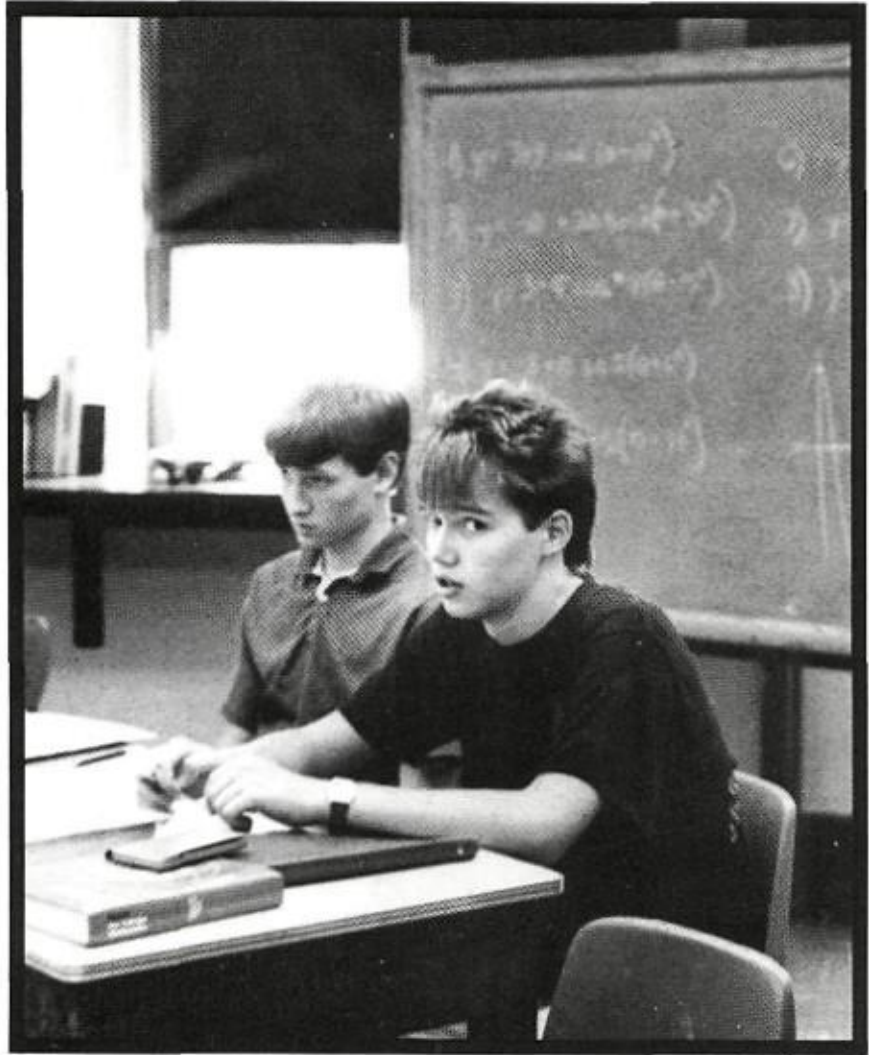

Chemistry students copy notes from the board in preparation for a test.

Tad George and Erik Travis look frustrated before taking a physics test.

Miguel Rodriguez, Armando Aguirre, and Juan Vega help each other with their social studies work.

MR. PIERCE

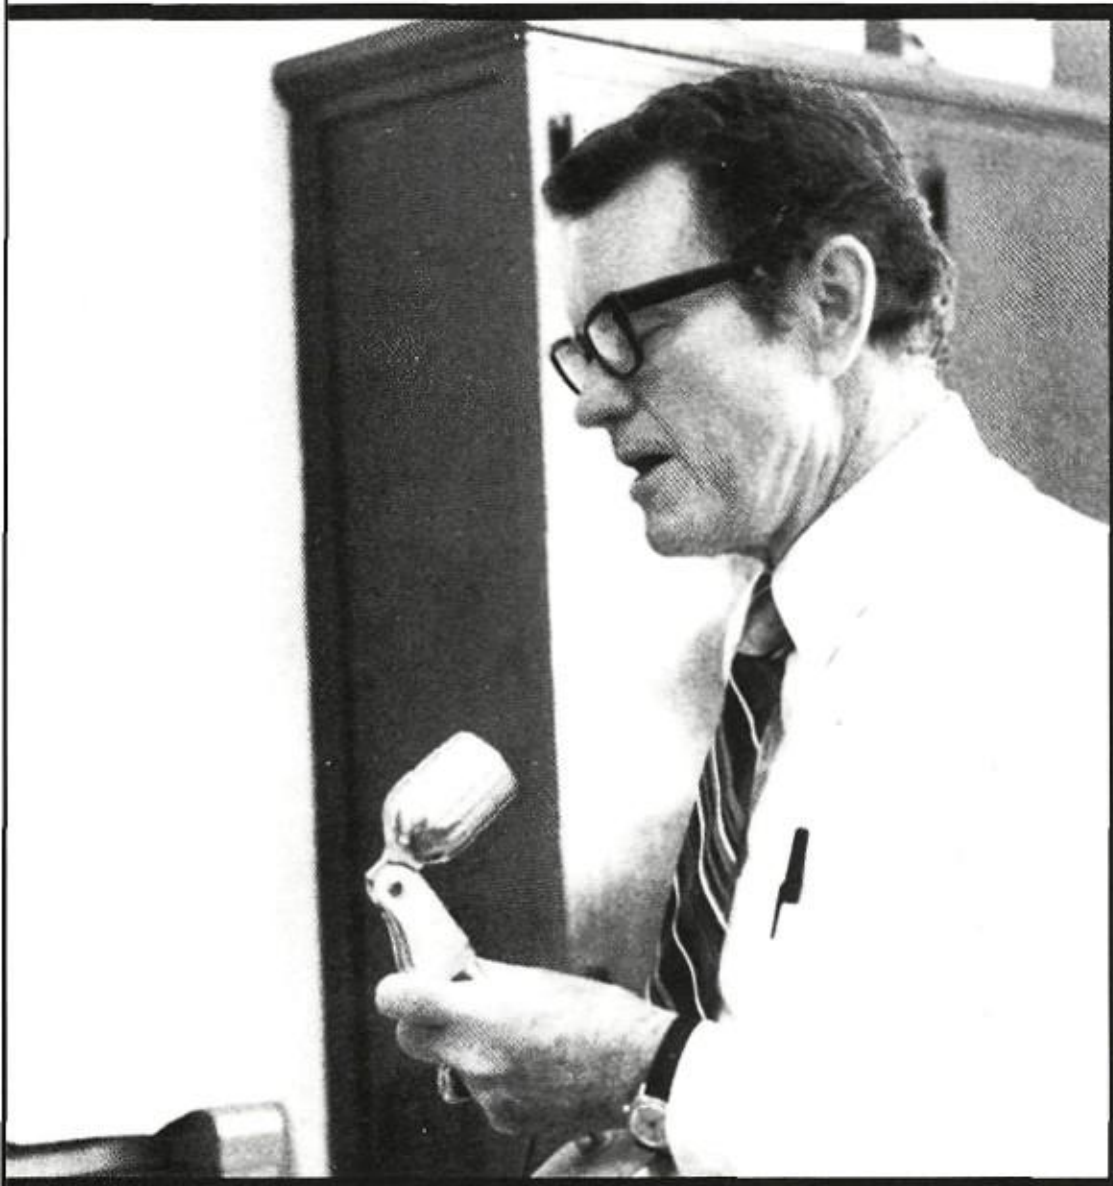

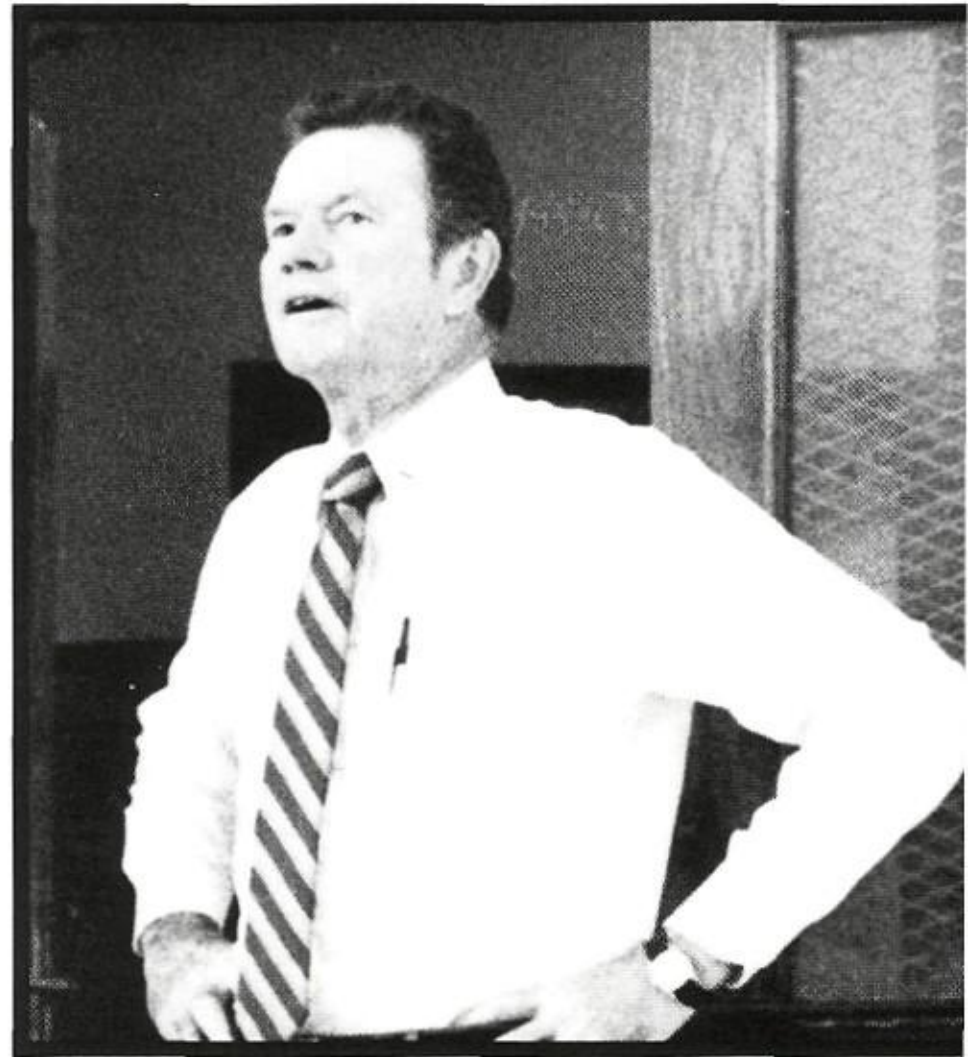

Experience that Cares

Principal Wayne Pierce guided Woodrow students for over twenty years. His experience led students and teachers alike to achieve greatness.

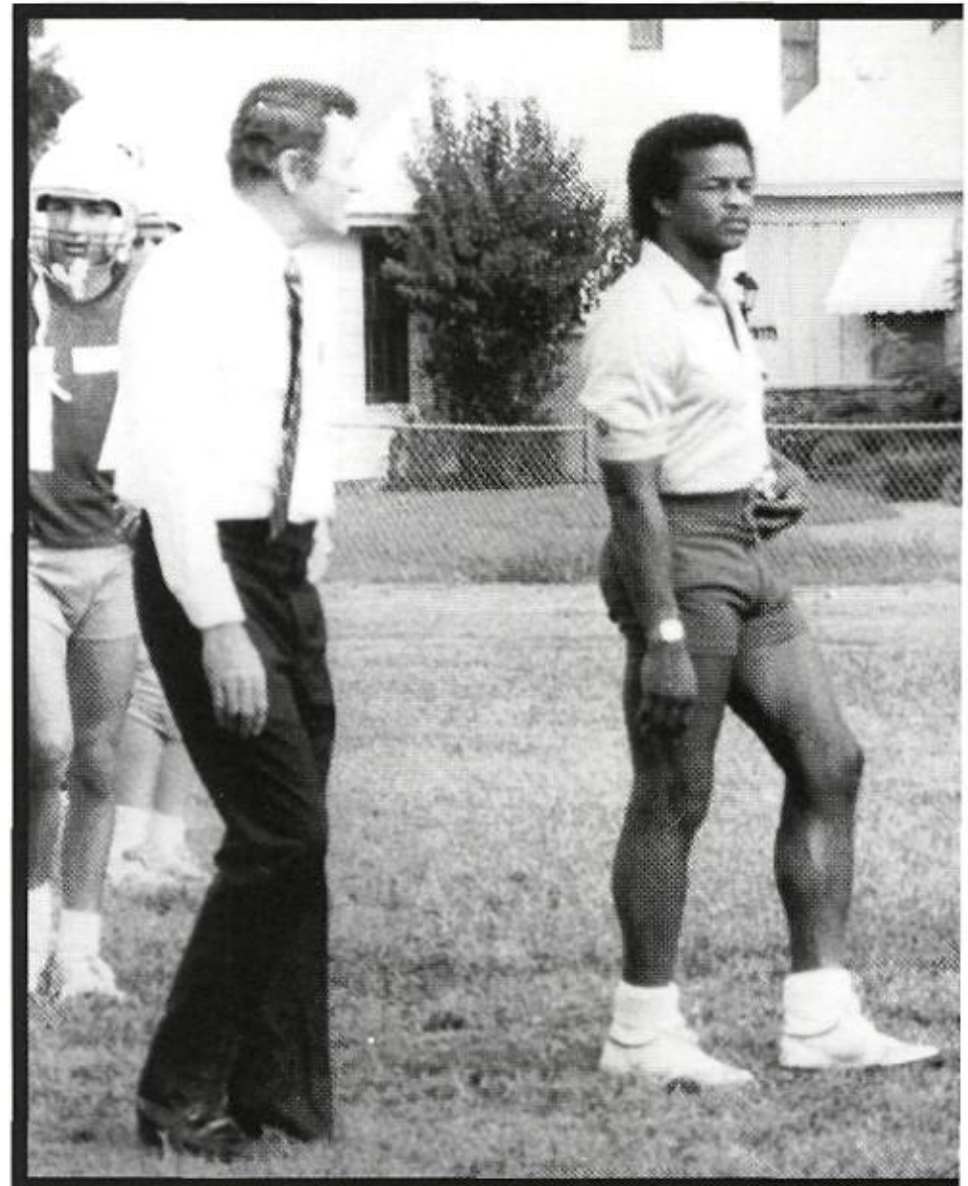

Mr. Pierce always worked to benefit the school in whatever way possible. He attended each pep assembly and every football game. He evaluated classes to see that Woodrow students were getting a good education. He was seen in the lunchroom talking to students and encouraging them to do their best. He also worked for extracurricular activities, such as the musical and other special events. He kept in touch with the PTA and Friends of Woodrow.

In a surprise move, Mr. Pierce retired at the end of the year. Staff, students and the community were sorry to see him leave, but he left a lasting mark on Woodrow.

Mr. Pierce observes the cafeteria during A lunch.

Mr. Pierce informs students with the morning announcements.

Mr. Pierce and Coach Kelly talk over the plays for the next foot game.

Mrs. Fortuna smiles at the end of a hard day.

STRIVING for Excellence

Joel Hayden and Jean Fortuna worked diligently all year long to make sure that Woodrow was one of the finest schools in the district.

Mr. Hayden was in charge of discipline. He made sure no one left the school campus for lunch and that no one was tardy to class, in addition to handling more serious problems. The clinic and attendance office were also under his supervision.

As the new dean of instruction, Jean Fortuna replaced Dr. Murillo in the fall. She observed teachers and classes to see that students were getting the most from their education.

Miss Harris and Mr. Pierce enjoy watching students eat lunch.

Mr. Hayden assists a parent in the attendance office.
